

Rebecca

Outreach Coordinator
Artist & Writer

Her day job is at a local nonprofit community arts center with a focus on children's education. In her spare time she writes essays, fictional and political. She also loves to draw quirky stick figures.

Demographics

- 28
- Female
- $35k/yr
- Bachelor's Degree
- Single with cat,
living with friends

Goals and Challenges

Connecting with a creative and intellectual community of peers outside of a school/work environment, having a creative outlet to express ideas

How We Can Help

A collaborative digital collage in the form of a web zine that centers around current thought, issues with a wide capacity for format, media, and requiring communication and focus with other passionate contributors

Values and Fears

Values honesty, pushing the envelope, feminism, socialism, deconstructing norms and the patriarchy, destigmatizing mental health issues, experimentation with new media, memes, feedback and collaboration

Elevator Pitch

Participate in webzine Alien WebMD and collaborate with artists, writers and thinkers about contemporary issues, exploring the intersection of various creative media.

Marketing Message

A better Internet black hole